Notes for Editors

About The Clinical Trial Company:

The Clinical Trial Company was incorporated in 2002. The TCTC founders realised an opportunity existed within the CRO sector for a company targeting medium size clinical trials and innovative products which lacked a classical road map to the market. Large CROs prioritise studies from the big pharmaceutical companies, for good business reasons. However, this approach sometimes disadvantages their smaller clients who are equally keen to complete their clinical trials quickly.

TCTC specializes in advanced therapy drugs such as cell & gene therapy as well as first in class biotechnology products. These types of investigational drugs often do not follow the classical road map to approval. They are also often Orphan Drugs which are targeted at meeting the unmet clinical needs of rare diseases.

TCTC has an experienced management team that offers extensive experience working with the FDA and MHRA to all their clients. Customer satisfaction is the key to our success as we always aim to provide our clients with efficient resource management and an alternative to conventional off-the-shelf approval strategies which ignore the unique nature of each product and market

The TCTC has its headquarters in Knutsford, Cheshire (UK) with additional offices in Cambridge (UK), Berlin (Germany), Toronto and Montreal (Canada), as well as Sydney (Australia). TCTC has operating divisions covering all aspects of drug development which include The CRA Company, The Regulatory Affairs Company, The Clinical Training Company and The CQA Company.
